QUALITY IN A KIRSCHBAUM

Suit stands out all over it--you can see it--you can feel it.

Many men tolerate clothes of indifferent quality and fit because they think all clothing is alike. Before buying your fall suit let us show you the greatest line of good clothing in the Indian Territory.

Look at it, examine the fine workmanship and you cannot but be convinced that we are warranted in our claim.

FRISCO WILL PLANT TREES IN TERRITORY FOR TIMBER

Denison, Texas Nov. 3.—The Frisco in order to make provision for its future supply of timber, has an expert forester quietly at work in Indian Territory choosing tracts of timber land which will make good forest reservations. A large part of this land is around Boswell, I. T., where there is plenty of timber.

The plan under consideration is comprehensive and if carried out will almost solve the timber problem for the system. It is proposed to purchase large tracts of land on which there is good standing timber. From this timber a certain amount will be cut yearly and then small trees will be planted. This will be done every year and eventually the company will be using the timber which they planted thirty, forty or fifty years before, according to the kind of trees that are grown.

The forester who is investigating for the Frisco will determine the kind of trees to be planted, will estimate the rate of growth and the amount of land required.

Even these railroads which penetrate thickly wooded countries realize that the future supply of timber is a problem that must be faced in a short time. In the east this condition has already arrived and a number of big systems have started forests. They were twenty or thirty years too late, however and must purchase their timber in the meantime at great distances away.

The Frisco evidently intends to profit by the experience of the older systems. At present the Frisco has sufficient timber to supply its own needs and the needs of others. But at the rate timber is being cut there is not over fifteen or twenty years supply in sight.

Boquet for Weaver.

Carlton Weaver, democratic candidate for delegate, appears to be popular not only with the honest voters of the country, but also with the ladies. Saturday morning F. C. Krieger, of Center, brought to Mr. Weaver a beautiful bouquet of flowers with a card attached which reads: "Compliments of the democratic ladies of Center."

In the beautiful cluster a particularly attractive flower was a fine, snowy bell of cotton. Mr. Weaver will treasure most highly this tasteful token of esteem for him and of encouragement for his candidacy.

OKLAHOMA BOYS DEFEATED BY TEXAS; SCORE 9 TO 10

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 3.—Excitement was at fever heat here last afternoon when members of the Texas University team were carried from the football field by strong supporters because of their well earned victory over Oklahoma University by a score of 10 to 9.

The game was hard fought and intensely interesting throughout, and but for the failure of Cross to kick goal, would have resulted in a tie. An on-side play and a goal from the field won the game for the victors.

Five minutes after the game was called the Texas team seemed the best and many predicted an easy victory for the Lone Star Boys but the game developed into a hard struggle and was hotly contested throughout.

Oklahoma scored in the first half on Truesdell's recovery of the ball, kicked by Cross. Cross failed to kick goal.

In the second half, after a few minutes play, McMahon (Texas) made a drop kick of the goal from the thirty yard line.

A few minutes later Hughes of Oklahoma made a placement kick of the goal from the thirty-five yard line. Texas scored a touch down on the on-side kick, McMahon putting the ball over the goal line, where Fink fell over it. McMahon kicked goal.

Near the close of the game Hendrickson broke through the Oklahoma line and made a run of 90 yards, being tackled from behind by Severin on the ten-yard line. Oklahoma held for downs and the game was called.

Hendrickson's playing is worthy of special mention, while numerous star plays were also made by R. Ramsdell and McMahon.

RESOLUTIONS

Passed By Ada Commercial Club on Death of J. B. Tolbert

Whereas; the Angel of Death has again visited our midst, and on October 26, 1906, removed our highly esteemed fellow townsman, J. B. Tolbert, from the scenes of his early activities;

Resolved; That in the death of our fellow citizen and brother member of this club, his family have lost a devoted husband and father; the community an upright and honorable citizen; this club an able and efficient officer and member, and the church a faithful and devoted worker.

Resolved; That we will ever gratefully remember the zeal, fidelity and integrity with which he discharged all his duties as a citizen, member and officer of this club, and that we commend his high moral character, as an example of a true and devoted Christian practicing the tenets of his religion in his daily business transactions with his fellowmen, which we should try to emulate.

Resolved; That we tender our heartfelt sympathies to the widow and children in the hour of their affliction.

Resolved; That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records and furnished each of the newspapers for publication.

Crushed to Death By Wagon

Owl, I. T. Nov. 3.—While bringing a load of corn to town J. L. Hobgood, a farmer, living one and one half miles west of this place, it is supposed was stricken with paralysis just before he reached the city limits and fell from his wagon. The front wheels passed over his body and head. The rear wheel was stopped on his body and remained so until several minutes later, when some one came to his relief. All possible medical aid was given but to no avail. He died at 3:20 o'clock without even regaining consciousness.

Another Arrest For Killing

Ardmore, I. T. Nov. 2.—Deputy Marshal C. A. Hahn has lodged Dan Sie in the Federal jail charged with complicity in connection with the killing of Indian Policeman Ben Collins, who was assassinated near Milburn a short time ago. Sie is a well known farmer of Sugden section. This makes the third arrest in connection with the killing. A. Washmood, an insurance agent and Henry Pruitt having been placed in jail last week.

FIRE THREATENED BOARDING HOUSE ON 12TH STREET

At ten o'clock Saturday morning a fire caught in a lace curtain in the front part of Mrs. George's boarding house on 12th street next to the city hall. The woman of the household extinguished the blaze before any damage was wrought further than destroying the curtain and charring portions of the window casing.

The fire's origin is unknown but it is feared they may have thrust a match through a hole in a window.

The fire department with a hose promptly responded and speedily ran the hose wagon fairly made the dust and confetti fly as it threaded its way between the tents of the carnival midway.

I. T. COMMERCIAL CLUBS TAKE IMPORTANT ACTION

Muskogee, I. T., Nov. 3.—In a meeting held yesterday, over which Mayor Dick of Ardmore presided and H. P. Robbins of McAlester was secretary, representatives from the commercial clubs of Ardmore and other cities took action on the following questions for presentation to the senatorial committee which will visit the Territory this month:

The alienation of allotted lands, full-blood surplus school funds, leases of all kinds, sale of coal and asphalt lands and taxation.

The meeting recommends the removal of restrictions on the sale of all land, both surplus and homestead, belonging to freedmen and intermarried citizens, also on the sale of surplus lands of all Indians not of full blood. An appropriation of $1,000,000 for the maintenance of schools in the rural districts.

The committee will be asked to have all old criminal cases pending at the time of the state's admission tried by a part of the federal courts now in existence in Indian Territory; that tenure to be continued for a year for that sole purpose.

CAN VOTE ALL RIGHT

But Must First Sleep With Wife's Wooden Leg.

Cincinnati, Nov. 3.—The Hamilton county board of election has solemnly advised Harry Ermstes, a grocer, to sleep one night with his absent bride's wooden leg in order to gain a residence for election purposes.

Ermstes seems to have lost a home when he gained a wife in Oldenburg, Ind., ten days ago. He is an economical German and in order to save expenses it has been his habit to sleep under the counter in the rear of his grocery.

When he returned with his bride Oct. 10 he discovered that he had neglected to provide any home for her and since then he has been sleeping in his old place while his wife takes turns sleeping at the homes of his relatives.

The Ohio election laws provide that a married man's residence shall be wherever his wife's is.

When Ermstes went to register so he could vote he found that by marrying he had lost his old grocery residence, and since he had not provided his bride with one he had not gained a new one. His wife's migratory spirit prevent her claiming a relative's home as hers.

The difficulty was solved when the board learned that the bride was blessed with a wooden leg, and advised him that he might register and vote if he would make the wooden leg to bed with him in the rear of his grocery store. For certain cases will, the board should require him to do this only one night in order to make his old residence hers and thereby his own again.

ADA EVENING NEWS.

ADA, IND. TER.

During the first quarter of this year 1,126 people were killed and 17,170 injured by the railways of the country; which also shows that we are going some.

A French automobile racer's name is Francois Szisz. If he were to sit up late every night to think of one that would express his business better, he couldn't do it.

A French anarchist who inherited 1,000,000 francs has become a convert to the sacredness of private property. It is a lucky anarchist who having inherited the disease also inherits the cure.

Laura Jane Libbey says a man's love is sure to follow his money. This season of the year a man's money is sure to follow his love, especially when she hies away to mountains or shore while he remains at home to sweat for it.

Alaska's capital has been changed, to accommodate the governor, who has rented two rooms at Juneau; so Sitka sits back and bites its nails in secret spite. Yet some day Alaska will have a stone house with plumbing and all the modern agonies.

Mr. Andrew D. White's declaration that technical appeals in criminal cases should no longer be allowed by the courts sounds reasonable enough, but, then, what would the lawyers do, poor things? Lawyers have got to live. Or, at least, they think they have.

An order issued this week to the London naval volunteers instructs men wearing beards to have them clipped torpedo fashion. A torpedo beard is a beard clipped to a point—a sort of stubby Vandyke—and is now the official beard of the navy. Just now it is the only beard that "smart" men wear.

One of the late Mr. Sage's nieces scornfully says that some of the others are satisfied with a $25,000 bequest "because they are afraid of losing it by contesting the will." Thus indirectly charging them with being short skates without sporting instincts. But it must not be forgotten that no bet is a good bet to lose.

Because of the settlement of a suit instituted more than half a century ago by the Indians of the Six Nations against the government, the assistant secretary of the treasury has just had the pleasant task of signing his name to 9,627 checks. This should make the average prosperous citizen feel happy by comparison when he settles the simple little bills contracted by his family during its summer outing.

A New York paper hazards the statement that the "average young undergraduate will tell you that the grading of the college world runs at present about as follows: (1) Wealth; (2) athletics; (3) scholarship." Evidently the paper has an editorial writer who is acquainted with the wrong kind of a "young graduate," and it takes it too much for granted that he represents a fair average. He should enlarge his acquaintance.

It is quite certain that a considerable percentage of every class in life is living beyond its means in the effort to make a display, keep up appearance and climb into the next higher class. This tendency is always exaggerated by the higher wages and larger profits in a time of prosperity and by the hope it holds out of permanent improvement of condition. Every country, says the Minneapolis Tribune, needs the tonic of panic depression now and then to take the conceit out of its people and teach them modesty, thrift and foresight.

The population of Germany, according to the enumeration of December 1, 1905, is 60,605,183. The states having the largest population are Prussia, 37,278,820; Bavaria, 6,512,824; Saxony, 4,502,350; Wurtemberg, 2,300,330; Baden, 2,009,320; Hessen, 1,210,104; and Mecklenburg-Schwerin, 624,881. Alsace-Lorraine has a population of 1,814,626. The most populous provinces in Prussia are Silesia, 4,935,823; Brandenburg, 3,529,839; Saxony, 2,978,679; Pomerania, 1,684,125; and Posen, 1,986,267. Berlin has 2,040,222 inhabitants.

Automobilists are supposed to be bright people, and there is belief that it will yet dawn upon them that tearing by the farmer's home at a rate of 190 miles an hour, leaving a trail of crushed ducks and young chickens, is a poor way to induce him to clear up the roadways of broken glass and other annoying trash.

A Wisconsin court holds that ice is a necessity. The various ice combines have been working on that assumption, realizing that the people must have it at any price.

The toads under the harrow at this moment are the New Jersey candy manufacturers, who are found to have amassed great wealth by selling children brightly colored sweets, some of which were actually poisonous, while all were bad. A chemical compound in "salt-water taffy," is found to be particularly deadly to the young stomach.

With irate farmers in the country and vigilant policemen in the city the life of the automobilist never need be devoid of excitement.

QUITS OVER SMALL SUMS.

Vital Principles Often Involved Where Amount Seems Trifling.

A Georgia railroad and one of its patrons have got as far as the supreme court of that state with a lawsuit in which the sum of money at issue is 18 cents, but there is a principle involved which both sides are determined shall be settled for all time, says the Boston Transcript.

In Atlanta, as in most cities south of New England, one can not enter a train without exhibiting a ticket and having it punched at the gates. An Atlanta man to aid a woman with a good deal of hand baggage bought a ticket to the nearest station beyond at the price named. It was stamped "redeemable if not used." The purchaser before leaving the station presented it for redemption, but this was refused. He then went to the local court, which decided in his favor. The railroad company then appealed to a higher court, on the ground that in his purchase of the ticket he simply pretended to enter into a contract and his purpose was to defraud.

Again the purchaser obtained a judgment and the case is now before the supreme court of Georgia. The principle of the plaintiff is that the railroad had no right to question his motives when he presented the ticket for redemption and that of the railroad company is that the existence of the gate system is at issue.

Highly important decisions have been based on issues involving very small money considerations. The supreme court of the United States last winter gave a good deal of time and research to a cause carried before it on appeal involving only $24. A railroad was, in this case, the defendant. It owed one of its employees, a train hand, this sum, which was attached and collected by one of his creditors. The employee contended that the money was still due him and carried the case up to the highest tribunal in the land.

Our own famous Chief Justice Shaw wrote one of his most luminous expositions of legal principles in deciding a case which turned on the ownership of a bull calf. It is related that the bar snickered at the frequent repetition of the phrase "the said bull calf," and the chief justice rebuked the laughing lawyer by saying: "Gentlemen, you do not reflect what a bull calf may be to a very poor family."

Robert Browning went to law over the value of one bottle of wine, on the great principle that he would not be swindled for half a crown if he could help it. The "kicker" is often the subject of ridicule, but kickers have helped the world along at times. Given a great scenic environment and the "kicker" becomes a historical personage of the first class. John Hampden would never have "felt" the amount of "ship money" assessed on his estate.

ASPARAGUS IS IN THE VAN.

Precedes the Other Fresh Vegetables That Spring Affords.

Asparagus is the precursor of the season of fresh vegetables, and there is probably no other vegetable the flavor of which is so highly esteemed as is that of tender asparagus. Chemical analysis offers no explanation of its pleasant flavor, but assigns to it a decidedly high nutritious value. Asparagus, however, furnishes one of those interesting examples of a food which, though containing more water in its composition than does milk, is nevertheless a solid substance. Thus the head of the asparagus contains slightly more than 93 per cent. of water, which is only 1 per cent. less than that contained in the lettuce, but 5 per cent. more than is present in milk. The solid constituents, however, are particularly rich in nitrogenous substances, which amount to 30 per cent. of the dried vegetable.

Among these may be reckoned a purin body, to which has been ascribed the harmful influence of asparagus on some persons with a gouty tendency. When asparagus is consumed in large quantities the output of uric acid is very distinctly increased. The same effect is obtained after drinking copiously of beer, which also contains purin bodies, although they are entirely absent in wines, and, of course, in spirits. Sweetbread may be objectionable on similar grounds. There is no reason for thinking, however, that when asparagus is eaten in reasonable quantities it causes an undesirable disturbance of the bodily functions. On the contrary, it is very digestible and is easily tolerated, even by invalids.

Breathing Sodium Peroxide.

At last man has learned to live without air. Sodium peroxide, one of the newer products of electrolysis, is a compound of sodium with oxygen that decomposes in the presence of damp carbonic acid. The value of this substance may be gathered from the fact that a man can live in an airtight box as long as any sodium peroxide remains unconverted. It is suggested that, by means of sodium peroxide, submarine boats will be able to remain under water for considerably longer periods than hitherto has been possible. Just how long will be a matter of calculation, the factors in the calculation being the amount of oxygen converted into carbonic acid by one man in one hour, the number of men present, and the weight of peroxide that can be carried. Used in mines, it should enable a miner to live with his head literally in a bag of india rubber containing this peroxide, whereby he can tide over a period of danger.

WAS CAVALRY CAPTAIN

WOMAN WHO HELD COMMISSION IN CONFEDERATE ARMY.

Miss Sally Tompkins, of Virginia, Enjoys Unique Distinction—Nursed Many Soldiers During War of the Rebellion.

Richmond, Va.—Miss Sally Tompkins, the only woman who received from the confederacy a commission as captain, is an inmate of the home for needy confederate women in this city. She is still as loyal to the cause of the south as was Gen. Jubal Early, who never took the oath of allegiance and who from the beginning of the war to the day of his death never wore anything but the confederate gray.

Miss Tompkins is now in her seventy-third year. She was 28 when the war broke out. She had ample means, was anxious to do her part, and, having had some little experience as a nurse prior to the war, decided that she could do hospital work.

Judge John Robertson, of this city, had moved his family to the country, and when Miss Tompkins announced her intention of opening a hospital for the care of the sick and wounded his house was placed at her disposal. She equipped the place from her private purse and took with her the servants from her household.

In 1862 the confederacy promulgated an order directing that all private hospitals should be closed. The friends of Miss Tompkins, who knew of the work she had done and her sacrifice for the confederacy, appealed to the president of the confederacy asking him to make an exception in her case. After some discussion he called in the secretary of war, saying:

"Let a commission issue forthwith naming Miss Sally L. Tompkins, of Richmond, as captain of cavalry, unassigned."

The commission was promptly made out and forwarded to Miss Tompkins while she was at the hospital. In this way she was enabled to carry on her work.

President Davis wrote that she would be entitled to draw pay as an officer, and that she would have that money with which to aid in the work she was doing. Miss Tompkins accepted the commission, but never a cent of the pay did she get, allowing it to remain to her credit and directing that it be used to equip and feed the men in the field. More than 1,300 soldiers were treated at her hospital.

The war swept away much of her wealth, but she has always contributed of her means to relieve the distress of those less fortunate than herself. She has friends all over the south, people of ample means, who would gladly give her a home if she would only come to them. She loves Richmond, the scene of her work, where she is best known, and where she can visit to her heart's content.

Miss Tompkins is a native of Mathews county, and in the court-house there is a picture of her taken many years ago, which was placed there by order of the court. That was the only picture ever taken of her.

Miss Tompkins, in talking about the work done by her at the hospital said she spent all her spare time in knitting socks for the soldiers, turning out thousands of pairs every year. When she first opened the hospital she had only one physician, Dr. A. V. P. Garnett, of Washington, who relinquished a large practice to come to the south, and he spent three years there, receiving not a cent for his services. Later Dr. Lattimer came to the hospital and remained till the close of the war.

Miss Tompkins spent much of her time in writing letters to the relatives of the men who were under her care. To-day she has the commission issued to her by President Davis and at her death it is to be presented to the confederate museum.

She spends her time in reading, writing and knitting. She has a great many visitors. She is contented and happy, and is always cheerful.

COTTON EXPORTS $400,000,000.

Exceeded Combined Value of Grains and Provisions by $3,000,000 in 1905.

Washington.—"Cotton is king" in the export record of the United States for the fiscal year just ended. It is the best money getter the country has.

The total value of raw cotton exported for the first time crossed the $400,000,000 line and exceeded by far the value of any other article of merchandise sent out of the country. The exports of breadstuffs of all kinds aggregated but $186,000,000, those of provisions but $211,000,000, and of iron and steel manufactures but $161,000,000.

The value of cotton exported has during the last five years increased rapidly. It was not until 1901 that it crossed the $300,000,000 line, and in five years has grown to more than $400,000,000, an increase of 33 per cent. This growth is due in part also to the advance in price, since the quantity exported in 1906 was about 700,000,000 pounds less than in 1905, while the value was $21,000,000 more than in 1905.

The exportation of manufactured cotton was also larger in 1906 than in any earlier year, aggregating practically $53,000,000, against $50,000,000 in 1905 and $22,500,000 in 1904. The growth in exports of manufactured cotton has been as striking as that of the raw material.

COLLECTS HIS OWN CLAIM.

Man Injured in Collision Forces Auto-ist to Pay $50.

Great Notch, N. J.—Jacob Harvey, of Great Notch, had a narrow escape from death in a collision with an automobile while returning from the reception to William Jennings Bryan in Newark. He was driving along Grove street in Upper Montclair when a touring car containing two men and two women came bowling along behind him.

The driver of the machine sounded a warning blast, but Harvey misunderstood it and turned to the wrong side. There was a crash and the next thing Harvey knew he found himself in the auto lying at the women's feet. It was found that the blow from the machine had lifted the body of the wagon clear off the axles and landed it on the horse's back. This accounted for Harvey's backward dive into the air and into the auto.

Harvey was requested to get out of the machine, but he declined. The men insisted that he must get out of the auto.

"Can't do it, b'gosh," said Harvey. "That rig just stands me in an even $100 and when I get that amount from you we will part company."

An argument ensued, but Harvey was obdurate. He refused to budge until finally a member of the automobile party, supposed to be the owner, offered him $50, and he finally accepted that sum.

"That was the time I acted as both judge and jury," said Harvey as he jumped to the ground.

THEFT OF A COURTHOUSE.

Wyoming Citizens Move Building and Records.

Pierre, S. D.—Attorney General Cleland has received an order to bring suit against 50 citizens of Selby, S. D., for $10,000 damages for stealing a courthouse at Bangor, S. D.

Bangor was declared the county seat of Walworth county two years ago by a public election. The citizens of Selby refused to recognize the election as binding as the Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad company had pushed through Selby in the meantime and left Bangor an inland town.

Nearly everyone in Bangor moved to Selby and about all there was left in the old town was the courthouse, one store, the residence of the storekeeper and the county officials.

Another election came around and the citizens of Selby agreed to allow the matter to go to a vote for the second time. This time Bangor won. It was charged that liquor was used to influence votes and another struggle followed in the courts. One night when Judge Gaffey, of Mitchell, S. D., was out of the city the Selby citizens marched to Bangor, tore down the small courthouse and took building and records to their town. The building was reerected in Selby and has been used there for two years. The suit is brought at the instigation of the county commissioners of Walworth county.

HE CHOKES HIS RATTLERS.

Pennsylvanian Uses Nothing But His Hands in Killing Snakes.

Lewisburg, Pa.—Campers returning from the Nittany mountains, on the border of Union county, tell of seeing the operations of a resident of that region who has a passion for killing rattlesnakes with his bare hands.

This mountaineer, Ira Snyder, lives at Forest Hill and spends whole days at his peculiar and dangerous sport of slaying the rattlers. He has killed thousands of them.

Snyder never used a stick or any kind of weapon, no matter how big the reptile may be. He would consider such a proceeding cowardly. When he sights a snake he creeps toward it stealthily, so as not to give it an alarm. When within range he springs upon it and seizes it with his right hand just back of the head, giving it no opportunity to turn upon him. The snake may coil its body about his arm, but can not reach him with its poisonous fangs.

So expert is Snyder at the business that in all his snake-hunting adventures he has never been bitten. A snake captured, he sits down and cuts off its head with a jackknife. He sells the skins for one dollar each and his earnings in a season amount to several hundred dollars.

Frog's Skin on Boy.

St. Louis City, Ia.—Frog's skin has been grafted on the stump of the amputated leg of Lawrence Bourret, a lad of 12 years. The wound has been stubborn, and already three of the boy's aunts have sacrificed goodly patches of cuticle in the hope of aiding their nephew to recovery, but to no avail. The use of the frog's skin is an experiment the success of which is still uncertain. Medical men in the city are watching the outcome with great interest. Strips of the skin have been grafted over a surface of four square inches.

Clock Has Run 135 Years.

Racine, Wis.—Mrs. W. W. Dingee, a well-known society woman of Main street, has received an old clock made by Gowan Brown, of Boston, and for a long time owned by her great-grandfather, Capt. John Parker, of Lexington battle fame. The clock, made prior to 1770, has kept correct time at the Parker house for more than 135 years, and thus can be said to be older than our government. Mrs. Dingee is enthusiastic over the historical relic. It has been placed in running order and may run to see several more generations.

NEWPORT, HOME OF EXPENSE REGARDLESS OF PLEASURE

"Marble Palace," Newport, Home of Mrs. Belmont.

Newport, R. I.—Newport, said a famous wit, gives itself over to expense regardless of pleasure. In no way is this displayed more than in the homes of the aristocracy of millions. In Newport the dictionaries have been corrected to read "palace" as a definition for the word "villa."

Bellevue avenue, from one end to the other, is lined with the most expensive homes in the world. These now are witnessing the very ultimate in costly gaiety, and along the superb drive a never ending line of carriages and automobiles carries from palace to palace the millionaire seekers after pleasure.

The long stretch of "villas" on the cliffs is the retiring place of plutocracy where wealthy New York can shift to summer surroundings secure from the intrusion of the lower five.

Forty years ago the houses of those who spent the summer at Newport were really cottages, but the social rivalries have transformed the architecture. To have one of these wonderful homes on the summit of that ocean swept abode of aristocracy is almost to procure the open sesame to the envied portals of society, hence there is little cause for wonderment that one of the first acts of the newly grown millionaire is to buy a tract of land and turn loose the best architect he can buy with carte blanche to exceed any structure on the cliff.

Whims in Architecture.

In planning his home the plutocrat consults his whim as to the architecture. If he has been in England and learned to admire some famous old structure there he models his dwelling according to the style of Queen Elizabeth; another with French tendencies elaborates on some chateau that recalls Azay, the Loire and Chenonceaux; a third builds a marble palace like Trianon; another imitates the exquisite summer mansions of the Romans at Capua, and still another models his palace on purest Grecian lines of beauty.

Perhaps the most famous of the many palaces in Newport are "The Breakers," "Ochre Court" and the "Marble Palace."

The late Cornelius Vanderbilt built the first named, and it is said that he put absolutely no restriction on his architect, the talented Richard Morris Hunt.

Mr. Hunt, now dead, was allowed to carry out in detail the elaborate design he conceived. It grew beyond his original plans, for the army of servants necessary to conduct a mansion during the Newport season forced him to find more room than he had first schemed for, and a house meant for two stories had to go up to four.

"The Breakers" fronts on the ocean. It is built of limestone, and each of the four elevations has its own distinctive charm. In one it is the entrance porch and driveway that appeals, in another the rounded projection of the drawing-room continued as a bay in the second story, in the third the double loggia filling out at the center through two stories the recess between the projecting wings, on the front the lightness of effect made by the elaborate and massive lower openings contrasted with the simplicity of those above is the distinctive and attractive feature.

Inside "The Breakers" carries sumptuousness to a point to make the average onlooker hold his breath in amazement. The great hall, the wonderful dining-room, the splendid billiard-room and white and gold drawing-rooms are all models of lavish beauty, yet in every case the genius of a great architect has always kept them within the limits of good taste.

It has been truthfully said that the effect of all these wonderful homes suffers a bit from their bunching. Any one of them is elegant enough to be the show place of a shire. In making the promenade, it is a common experience time and again to think the limit of beauty has been attained only to come suddenly upon another place that quite outshines its predecessors.

Many of these palaces have been made to grow over night. Flowers, hedges, aisles of mighty trees come suddenly where only a few months ago was barren rock. On gateways alone are expended money enough to build the average business man a fine home.

With "The Breakers" is always coupled "Ochre Point" as the masterpiece of Hunt, the best architect Newport has known, and the art mind that determined the form of its show.

"The Breakers" is in a general way typical of the Renaissance, but "Ochre Point" is a perfect sample of the French chateau. So determined was Robert Goulet not to let the need of room carry the structure to such a size that it would lose all relation to the model, that he built a four-story annex for use of servants and the business office that has to be maintained in the palace of one of Newport's society kings.

Palace of the Goelets.

Like Vanderbilt, Mr. Goelet did not live long to enjoy his wonderful home, but as the finest building owned by the family it is now the center of many elaborate functions in which the statuesque beauty of young Mrs. Robert Goelet plays a prominent part.

Mrs. Belmont's residence, "Marble Palace," is severely classical in outline. It is built of white marble throughout, and at the main entrance are three massive pillars going all the way to the roof that suggest the front of the White House, though they are far more elaborate and costly.

Leading to the entrance are two sweeping driveways railed in superb white marble, and bordered by the costliest flowers. If "Marble Palace" is a bit more cold in outline than its two famous rivals and a little less summery, it has an imposing beauty all its own.

A place at Newport which is always greatly admired is Beacon Rock. This is the summer home of E. D. Morgan. He and Mrs. Morgan are greatly devoted to yachting, and their place is one of the few along the cliffs that has a harbor. For a boat landing they have utilized a picturesque wreck.

Beacon House hangs right over the sea on a narrow neck of rock. To connect his palace with the rest of Newport Mr. Morgan had to have built a bridge, which spans a low stretch of road. In the offing is always to be seen one of the Morgan yachts, sail or steam.

Henry Clews, the financier, boasts a Newport residence worth the while, though it is a bit less ostentatious than those previously described. Its most distinctive feature is the stone tower over the entrance. It is surrounded by the typical Newport porch, which sweeps the entire structure.

Charles W. Lippert's residence, with its turrets and walls, takes on the appearance of a fortress of medieval times, and only the addition of a few cannons would be necessary to make it look a place that could be held against an army of invaders.

Its hostile effect is added to by its comparative isolation.

Home of a Vanderbilt.

"Rough Point," Fred W. Vanderbilt's residence, is one of the most inviting of the many superb places along the cliff, from the fact that its appearance is not so awe-inspiring as that of its rivals. It is built of rough stone, with comfortable piazzas, and suggests summer and vacations in every line.

"The Elms," E. J. Berwind's residence, takes its name from the beautiful trees that overshadow it.

It took Mr. Berwind 20 years to get all the land he wanted before he began building, and in this particular he is more fortunate than his fellow cottagers, for he has succeeded in surrounding his place with open space to give its lines full effect. The villa is full half a mile from the bay. It is in the style of Louis XIV. and is built of Indiana limestone.

The clever arrangement makes the house look to be in the center of a vast park, which to all appearances stretches for miles.

The building stands on a terrace, and its severity is relieved by the Italian garden which it fronts.

So frequently are the handsome Newport homes augmented by the building of a new one that the old inhabitants scarcely refer to them, but if an original Newporter, who knew the town of Longfellow's poem, should come back, he would believe Aladdin's fairy lamp had been at work.

Marries Wooden Leg with Girl.

Pittsburg.—A queer suit over who shall pay for a wooden leg is in progress here, and the question as to whether a man who marries a girl with a wooden limb marries the limb, too will be settled in court. Dr. Clarence Gukert, a dentist, has been sued for $100, the cost of a wooden limb, by Dr. R. H. M. McKenzie here. McKenzie brought suit before Alderman Charles Anderson, alleging that the limb was furnished some years ago to a young lady, since Mrs. Gukert, and he wants the husband to pay for the limb. Gukert's defense was that a wooden limb was not part of any person, more than is a shoe or finger ring; that he should not be forced to pay for anything bought by his wife before their wedding. Alderman Anderson gave judgment for McKenzie, but Gukert has appealed the case.

To Save Space in a Flat.

Rules for Space Economy That Are Also Applicable to a Small House--Eliminate All Unnecessary Articles of Furniture.

BY MARGARET E. SANGSTER.

Living in a flat in a big city is being packed like a sardine in a box with others packed equally as close and equally requiring to save space.

You know how it feels to stand beside a trunk that is wholly inadequate for the number of articles that must be forced within its limits. The careful packer folds and rolls and squeezes and takes advantage of every tiny vacancy until not an atom of room is left. When the trunk is full to repletion and the trays refuse to let the cover fall into place, there is rearrangement, perhaps more adjustment and finally somebody having coaxed the reluctant lid to approach the lock, jumps on it, stands on top, and presto! the thing is done. "That trunk is packed," the owner cries, with a blissful relief, turning to the next thing to be done, with a comfortable assurance that it will be what the boys call a "cinch" compared with the task of the trunk.

"Why do you take so many dresses and encumber yourself with so much luggage?" remonstrates a practical aunt from the country, who cannot comprehend the necessity of carrying one's complete wardrobe away when one goes on a visit. "Why not carry two trunks?" asks the good-natured uncle who has plenty of money, and does not see the sense of being inconvenienced in the matter of boxes that may be handled by express and baggage men.

The trunk's owner cannot afford two trunks, and she does not wish to omit a single pretty costume. Therefore she endures the agony of packing without a murmur.

For the trunk substitute an ordinary six or eight-room flat in a tall apartment house. If the householder is so well-to-do that he can pay rent for two flats, one above the other, or one opposite the other, across the hall, his problem will solve itself; but city rents are a formidable item of expense. They are forever soaring upward and growing higher. They eat a frightful hole into the average income. To live anywhere near one's business and near one's friends one must be resigned to putting a generous monthly sum into the landlord's pocket. The landlord cannot help himself, for in his turn he pays tremendous taxes and has an ever-increasing outlay in the matter of repairs. Workmen, from plumbers to painters, from carpenters to roofers, charge what seem to those who foot the bills extortionate prices. It goes all around the circle. To live decently in any large town costs a lot of money. This being the case, housekeepers select the flat that offers the greatest inducements in light and air, and proceed to settle their belongings as conveniently as they can.

The greatest benefit that could possibly happen to a great many flat-dwellers would be to have a big bonfire near by in a vacant lot while some despoiler seized upon their goods and chattels and threw them in. Everybody who has kept house over five years owns more furniture and accumulates more articles than are absolutely essential to comfort and luxury. Nobody can bear to part with a single thing. This was a wedding present, that was bought the day when the baby had her first birthday; the other was brought by a visiting cousin from Australia. Somebody has said, was it Emerson, "Things are in the saddle and ride mankind." They certainly are in the saddle, and ride mankind with a vengeance when the home is in a flat.

The first suggestion as to saving space is the practical one of eliminating sternly whatever can be spared. The storage warehouse should accommodate every superfluous stick of furniture until a time comes when wider quarters and ampler environment may be secured.

A city flat is a thing of make-shifts. Possibly in one or two rooms a bedstead with springs, mattresses and pillows, a bedstead that announces itself for what it is and stands in full view all day long will be tolerated. Ordinarily people who live in flats take to folding beds. These masquerade by day as bureaus, book-cases, sideboards and other contrivances. The folding bed that successfully deceives the elect has not yet been invented. It looks like a book-case on casual inspection, but the cloven feet peep out and a closer glance reveals the reality. Divans and lounges are less objectionable and more popular because a room with a divan looks like a living-room, a library or a drawing-room and does not shout at you the fact that at night this is a bed-room. Added to this, divans are often long chests and hollow in which all sorts of things are kept.

Everywhere in a city flat there are boxes and packages carefully concealed from sight. Behind portieres, under chairs, in the bathroom, in the niches that by courtesy are called closets, the goods, the wearing apparel and the usual possessions of a home, are thriftily disposed and sedulously concealed from observation. I have seen a very charming dressing table draped with spotless curtains of dimity and surmounted by an adjustable mirror. This at intervals was pulled apart and its foundation turned out to be the gas range on which tea was made or breakfast was cooked. Laundry tubs when the washing and ironing are done out of the house are a perfect God-send to the woman whose space is small, while her horde of things is large. The tubs may be made at once to screen from view and to accommodate articles of general utility. They are an admirable safe deposit for shirtwaists and other articles of feminine raiment, including picture hats and the like. Their top makes an excellent table for lamps, books and papers.

I remember a small flat reached by several flights of stairs and made alluring by a little stairway leading up to a great airy roof. This was the home one winter of what I may call a colony of girls. They were art students, journalists and newspaper women. Every inch of space in their flat was made available, and the bewilderment of the pretty southern matron mother of one sweet maiden, a woman who had come from an ample home in Kentucky to hover over this brood, with her motherly wings, was both amusing and pathetic. She had been used to a large house with wide verandas, high ceilings and a vast attic. Imagine her dismay when fitted in to a spot that covered its tenants as a very tight glove covers a plump hand. But she made the best of the situation and helped the girls to get fun out of it.

In order to save space in a city flat one must be clever, original and quick-witted. One must do without some conveniences. One must be contented to take a good deal of trouble. In the downtown tenements it is said that bathtubs are converted into coal bins. This is done by people who, having had the good fortune to rent a model tenement in some of the newer houses, are not yet educated so far as to appreciate a daily bath.

Refined and fastidious people cannot save space by utilizing the bathtub for anything beyond its design. This, however, is almost their only restriction. Notwithstanding continual objections and prohibitions, few women resist the opportunities offered by the fire-escape and, in short, wherever there is a jutting edge or a convenient ledge or a peg or a shelf, something is found to stand on it and it serves a double purpose.

Notwithstanding so much planning and managing, the city flat makes the shell of many a very pleasant home. It does not lend itself well to a family of growing children. By the time baby No. 3 arrives mothers make up their minds that they must go farther uptown or emigrate to a suburb. For young married people, for wage-earning women keeping house on a cooperative basis, the city flat has its advantages.

CONSULAR REPORTS

INTERESTING NEWS FROM MANY FOREIGN LANDS.

CROPS IN COLD ALASKA.

Arctic Climate Does Not Prevent the Growing of Vegetables—China Seeking to Curtail Opium Evil—Other Notes.

Many persons who have traveled recently in Alaska have returned with the impression that this distant northern possession of the United States is valuable only for fish, minerals and woods. Suggestion that agriculture is possible in that land of snow and ice is generally ridiculed. Nevertheless the latest publication of the department of agriculture is on the work of the Alaskan experiment station, prepared by C. C. Georgeson, in charge of the Alaskan work.

The report covers the operations at Sitka, Rampart, Cooper Center, Kenai and Fairbanks, and shows a remarkable amount of ingenuity in selecting and coaxing along the crops best suited to the short, uncertain summer of the far north. The work has met with many discouragements and setbacks. But on the whole it has been satisfactory enough and a good many of the mistakes made were the sort that were to be expected in dealing with an almost unknown problem. They can be rectified in the future and the writer makes the prediction that a large percentage of the $2,500,000 worth of produce imported in 1905 could be raised in the country.

Returns have not been available from all of the land offices, but it seems that ten offices report 280 homesteads taken up, and while a number of these probably were taken largely for the timber on them there has been enough done in the farming line to show that Alaska will produce many things besides minerals and will be able largely to feed herself. The total farm imports into Alaska last year were $3,340,899. Of this amount many things were like tobacco, rice, sugar and nuts, which essentially belong to the tropics. But of the products of the temperate zone there were $1,527,522 worth of animal products and $1,577,628 worth of vegetable products, and of these the larger portion can and eventually will be produced in the territory.

COMBATING OPIUM IN CHINA.

China has just revised and consolidated her native opium taxation. It amounts to 115 Peking taels per picul (about 66 cents per pound) on crude opium and double that amount on the prepared article, the grower's tax being abolished. According to reports from Peking the government is anxious to curtail the use of opium, but is dependent for revenue to the extent of over $4,000,000 a year on the duties paid on imported opium. She cannot, in the present state of her national finances, witness without concern the disappearance of such an important branch of revenue. The imports of opium amount to 3,000 tons, while the native article is produced to the extent of 20,000 tons. Moreover, there is a great development in the use of morphine. The Japanese ship to China large quantities of cheap hypodermic syringes.

The better Chinese are reported to have a strong feeling against the enormous extension of the growth of the poppy throughout the empire. A Peking correspondent of the London Times indicates that China will ask India to consent to an annual reduction in the import of opium to China, which would have the effect of extinguishing the trade in ten years, and as an evidence of good faith will issue an imperial edict condemning the use of opium and forbidding the employment in the government service of any opium eater, and order an annual reduction in poppy cultivation leading to its extinction in ten years.

CHEAPER LIQUID AIR.

Reduced cost of liquid-air production is indicated by an article in the London Times. Recent experiments in England of an invention by Mr. Knudsen, a Dane, furnished liquid air at one-sixth of the present market price, and give promise of an ultimate low price of a fraction over two cents per gallon. The result is secured by purely mechanical means, without an atom of added chemicals. Atmospheric air is first purified and then compressed by stages to 2,500 pounds to the square inch. It is finally reduced to 125 pounds to the square inch, which then cools and liquefies the high-pressure air.

The oxygen gas produced by separating the nitrogen from the liquid air is claimed to be purer than by the old method, and can be supplied in the liquid as well as the gaseous form. One gallon of liquid air equals approximately 128 cubic feet of oxygen gas, which retails at six cents per cubic foot. The new price is one cent. Liquid air has been successfully used in coal mines as an explosive, being quite safe where fire damp and other explosive gases exist. Liquid oxygen is also used for welding steel pipes, boiler shells, and plates for shipbuilding instead of riveting.

That oxygen and nitrogen can be separated from liquid air and sold retail at $1.20 per gallon shows great commercial possibilities. The use of nitrogen for agricultural purposes opens yet another field. The maturing of liquors will be helped by liquid air, as also the preservation and purification of milk. As a motive power its use is considered to be quite practicable for small powers. The British government is already carrying out a number of experiments with a view to the utilization of liquid air for various purposes.

FINE DOCK FOR ENGLAND.

Consul W. C. Hamm, of Hull, says that the new dock at Grimsby, which has just been begun, will be the finest on the east coast of England, equipped with all modern improvements and capable of accommodating the largest vessels now afloat.

The new dock, when finished about five years hence, will be 1,100 feet square, with a bay or arm, 1,250 feet long by 375 feet wide, at the southwest corner. The main dock and arm will have an area of 38½ acres of water. Provision is made for future developments of three other bays, or arms, at the corners, bringing the total dock area to 71 acres of deep water. There will be 6,760 feet of quay space in the main dock, which will be brought up to 14,110 feet, when the four bays are completed. In all, 616 acres have been acquired for the dock, of which 79 acres will be water space, and the remaining 537 acres for land about the dock when completed. There will be a railway 4½ miles long, constructed from Immingham to the existing company's line at the Ulceby junction, and additional railway accommodation is to be provided by a light railway which will run from Grimsby to the dock site, which is already practically finished.

The depth of water in the dock will be 35½ feet below high water at spring tides and 32 feet below high water at ordinary neap tides. The entrance lock, which is to be funnel shaped, will be 850 feet long and 90 feet wide, with 47½ feet of water at high tides, 44 feet of water on the sill at neap tides, and 28 feet at low tides. Vessels of deep draft will thus be able to enter or leave at any state of the tide, as the deep-water channel of the Humber passes close to the entrance, and it will only be necessary to dredge for about 300 yards across the foreshore to gain access to it. The entrance channel will be flanked by jetties, and here deep water will always be available, so that vessels may go alongside at any state of the tide, thus affording special facilities for passengers and for bunkering coal. The site is an ideal one for a deep-water dock, as there are no expensive reclamation works to be undertaken and the deep-water channel runs close to the site.

This new dock will be of special interest to Americans, because three centuries ago the Pilgrims gathered only a mile from this spot to await a Dutch vessel which would carry them to Holland.

GOLD DREDGING IN KLONDIKE.

According to Consul Ravndal, the rich, early discovered creeks in the Klondike have by crude and wasteful methods been worked over. They now are being subjected to more scientific treatment under the new system. It has proved eminently successful in the Klondike in spite of such drawbacks as difficulties of transportation, high cost of installation and operation, frozen gravel and short seasons.

Gold dredging in the north has passed the experimental stage and become an established and promising industry. Extensive areas of low-grade ground which have been lying idle, because under the former manner of mining the cost of extraction would equal, if not exceed, the returns, are being made productive through the use of dredges handling 3,000 or more cubic yards of dirt every 24 hours.

Aside from the Klondike output this year, it is said that Alaska will probably furnish some $20,000,000 of gold as against $14,500,000 for 1905, $9,000,000 for 1904 and $6,350,000 for 1903. It is pointed out that seasons of exceptional prosperity have followed each of the great gold finds of recent times—those of Australia, of California, of South Africa and of the Klondike.

So far most of the capital invested in dredging operations in the Klondike is owned by citizens of the United States and most of the gold cleaned up is sold in Seattle.

Roosters That Really Drive Tandem

The Rooster Team and Their Youthful Driver.

Who wants to race? Frank Robinson has issued a challenge to all chicken fanciers and is ready to match his team of roosters against all comers. Frank drives his roosters tandem, attached to a home-made wagon, and guides them with reins. They do not wear bits, but the forward ends of the reins are tied about the lower beaks of the birds. Progress with this unique team is not rapid, but the astonishing thing about it is that there should be any progress at all. Frank is only two years old, and he can control his unique tandem better than anyone else.

The training of the roosters to this, to them, unique task took a great deal of time and patience, says the N. Y. World. It may be said that impatience of any sort of restraint is the dominant characteristic of his lordship of the barnyard. Like the pig of tradition and experience, he is always willing and anxious to go in any direction but the right one. However, in this case he has so far given into the will of man that he stood patiently for his picture and then trotted off with every apparent willingness to go where he was wanted to.

THE BLOW GUN.

How to Make It So It Will Not Break.

I want to tell the boys how they can make a "blow gun," which can be used to shoot small birds with, says a writer in the Elmira Telegram. Get a glass tube about four feet long at any drug store. Wrap it with strips of cloth as shown in "1." This will act to prevent the tube from breaking. Get a piece of cane, such as fish poles are made from, and enlarge the center with a red-hot poker until you can slip the tube inside of it. Now, cut the cane off to the right length and secure tube inside with putty. Your blow gun will now be complete as shown in "2," but you have no bullets. For these you can use either peas, clay, tacks or arrows. An arrow can be made from a pin with the head filed off and some cotton bound on the back end so it will fit tight in the gun, as shown in "3," or you can take a tack (see "4"), and bind worsted around it just below the head and melt some wax on it. Shoemakers' wax rubbed on is best. This will fly straight and is a first-class missile. If a clay pellet is used you can stun small birds, but not otherwise injure them, so that, if they are picked up at once, you can often capture them alive.

A MAGIC TOY.

Trick Which It Will Puzzle Your Friends to Do.

Cut a narrow strip of wood or cardboard about four inches long by three-quarters of an inch wide and bore three holes through it, one in the center, the two others on the ends of the strip. Our illustration shows how a piece of string is pulled through the holes and two beads or rings are suspended from it. The holes must be large enough to let the string go through doubled. The trick is to bring the two rings on one loop, without untying the knots.

Take the center loop and pull it as long as possible, stick it through the hole on one end of the strip and slip it over the knot of the string. After letting it slip over the bead on this one end, repeat the same movement on the other end. Now, directs the Washington Star, the loop may be pulled through the opening in the center of this strip. Both beads or rings are thus brought together and the loop is arranged again the same as it was before.

Ages of Birds.

The average ages recorded of some of the best known birds are given in the following: Blackbird lives 12 years; blackcap 15, canary 24, crane 24, crow 100, eagle 100, fowl, common 10, goldfinch 15, geese 50, heron 59, lark 13, linnet 23, nightingale 18, parrot 60, partridge 15, peacock 24, pelican 50, pheasant 45, pigeon 20, raven 100, robin 12, skylark 30, sparrowhawk 40, swan 100, thrush ten, and wren three years.

A City Maid.

She came up to the country But a week or so ago. This city maid who never had seen The fields where wild flowers grow. And when she saw the cat-tails. She cried: "Oh, do look, quick! Who ever heard of sausages Growing on a stick!"

THE HERD-BOYS RICHES.

His Greatest Treasure Was a Contented Heart.

German literature contains many beautiful pieces. Here is one:

In a flowery dell, a herd-boy kept his sheep; and because his heart was joyous he sang so loudly that the surrounding hills echoed back his song. One morning the king, who was on a hunting expedition, spoke to him and said: "Why are you so happy, dear little one?"

"Why shall I not be?" he answered. "Our king is not richer than I."

"Indeed!" said the king; "tell me of your great possessions."

The lad answered: "The sun in the bright, blue sky shines as brightly upon me as upon the king. The flowers upon the mountain and the grass in the valley grow and bloom to gladden my sight as well as his. I would not take a hundred thousand thalers for my hands; my eyes are of more value than all the precious stones in the world; I have food and clothing, too. Am I not, therefore, as rich as the king?"

"You are right," said the king, with a laugh; "but your greatest treasure is a contented heart. Keep it so, and you will always be happy."

THE OLD HEN, TOO.

Mother to Bobby, who doesn't want to go to bed!—But, dear, remember that the little chickens go to bed early.

Bobby—Yes; but the old hen goes with them.

The Eagle's Eye.

The eye of the eagle and of other birds of prey, is different from the human eye in several respects. We cannot look at the sun without danger of ruining our sight, but the eagle can look at it, not only without danger, but without pain. Nature has provided the bird's eyes with a thin skin, or membrane, inside the lids, which it can draw down at will, thus protecting the eyeball, while not interfering seriously with vision. The eagle has also the power of adjusting the focus of its eyes so that it can see as well as a great distance as it can near the object. It can see its prey as distinctly from the height of a mile above the earth as it can only a few rods away. All this is merely a part of the great scheme of self-protection that nature has arranged for her creatures.—Chicago Daily News.

THE BUSHWHACKER'S CAMPAIGN

The republican campaign in this 87th district has been such a small, insignificant affair that it hardly warrants the waste of democratic ammunition upon it. However, there are some disgusting features of that campaign which deserves the contempt and rebuke of the people.

What little quixotic campaign has been made by the republicans has been chiefly by one or two court house federal appointees who have scoured the woods trying to prejudice the farmers of this country against the business interests of Ada. While being paid their salaries out of the nation's treasury they have spent their time largely telling the farmers that the lawyers and corporations are for the democratic candidate, Carlton Weaver.

Now, most of the lawyers in this section are democrats and very naturally support Weaver. Their profession particularly qualifies them for public speaking. Everybody knows that the legal profession and the newspapers, the country over, are the main reliance of the people for an effective elaboration and agitation of questions of government. What republican lawyers there are in Ada hold fat federal appointments and, deserting official duties, are out trying to prejudice the people against Carlton Weaver because the bulk of Ada's lawyers are for him and speaking for him.

As for the charge that the corporations are for Weaver—that charge is ridiculous. The majority of Ada's business men are for him because they are democrats—the same reason that the majority of the farmers are for him. In Ada there are none of the big corporations whose corrupt practices the people fear—except perhaps, the railroads running through. And everybody knows how the railroads vote. If they could they would vote even the cross-ties, spikes and right-of-way for the republican candidates.

The interests of the farmers and business men of this district are the same; when the one prospers the other prospers; when one suffers the other suffers. They are both victims of the great combinations of corrupt capital and they are waging a joint fight on their common enemy—waging it, too, through the channels of the democratic party, the party of the people.

Carlton Weaver is a man big and broad enough to faithfully represent the interests of all honest men and all legitimate business and industries in this district. And he will do it.

It is unjust, undignified, unpatriotic, contemptible—this republican effort to array the country against the town. Such demagogic agitation by the republican Don Quixote campaigners will be soundly rebuked on election day by the honest people of both country and town.

FROM Reagan, in the south end of the district, comes the sensational intelligence that the republican chairman of the election board in that precinct is a fugitive from justice, under charge of the revolting crime of rape; that as a result his mail, including the supplies for Tuesday's election, lies in the post-office unclaimed for and legally uncollectable. So it would seem the election authorities did not make a very wise selection. But then republicans are so scarce hereabouts, it's hard to pick a bunch without getting some bad ones. It is said that Mr. Beard will fill the vacancy by another appointment.

ALL through the campaign the republican leaders have done everything their ingenuity could suggest to win the election. They have not hesitated to undertake any means to gain the end. Their attempt to distort the provisions of the enabling act and open the way to fraud at the polls; the gerrymandering of the constitutional districts to benefit the republicans and the consequent disfranchisement of thousands of voters in the democratic strongholds; the last and desperate attempt which they have carried out, to prevent the candidates that would likely injure the chances of their own candidates from going on the ticket, shows their intentions.—McAlester Capital.

AGAIN fire broke out in Ada and scarcely anyone but the telephone girl knew of it until it was extinguished. This town's got to have some sort of a fire alarm. The city will have to get either a big bell or a loud whistle. There are those, highly qualified to judge, who decidedly prefer a whistle—one of the siren or devil type. These whistles give forth a shriek like the wail of a lost soul, and when one turns loose it awakes everything but the dead. Among those who advocate the whistle is C. I. Patterson, of the electric light plant. The whistle, with accessory appliances, will cost about $80. Mr. Patterson very generously offers to furnish the steam power and attendance free of charge at the light plant. The whistle can be started by the touch of a button at central telephone office, and it can be adjusted to give supplementary signals indicating the ward location of the fire.

CARNIVAL CLOSES TONIGHT

Has Been a Continuous Round of Gaiety

After Saturday night's festivities the carnival closes and the amusement company will at once move to Madill for next weeks engagement.

It has been a gala week in Ada. The town has never been visited by such a high class street amusement company. Messrs Younger and Nichols are to be congratulated upon maintaining such a superior aggregation of attractions. There are ten leading pay attractions, with many minor ones and a number of splendid special features.

Scarcely will there be a man, woman or child in this vicinity who failed to see one or more of the shows; Old Plantation, Roman Coliseum, Mysterious Edna, Samson the Snake, The Girl from Dixie, etc. And the balloon ascensions and high diving have been most thrilling and spectacular.

A large crowd is in town today taking in the delights of Midway and the town folk will be out tonight for the farewell fun.

A Year of Blood.

The year 1903 will long be remembered in the home of F. N. Tackett, of Alliance, Ky., as a year of blood, which flowed so copiously from Mr. Tackett's lungs that death seemed very near. He writes: "Severe bleeding from the lungs and a frightful cough had brought me at death's door, when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, with the astonishing result that after taking four bottles I was completely restored and as time has proven permanently cured." Guaranteed for sore lungs, coughs and colds, at F. Z. Holley and G. M. Ramsey's drug stores. Price 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

THE DEADLY PARALLEL

What the Election on November 6 Means to the People of New State

SHOULD THE DEMOCRATS WIN.

1. Separate schools, coaches and waiting rooms for the negro race, as in all democratic states.
2. A provision in the constitution for the Initiative and Referendum, thereby protecting the people against corruption, bribery and graft.
3. A Railroad Commission and Supreme Court elected by all the people, in the state at large.
4. Soft coal at $2.50 to $4.50 per ton; the same price now paid for the same coal in Missouri and Kansas.
5. A reduction of from 25 to 40 per cent on the price of lumber.
6. Compulsory education and free text books for all school children printed in a state printing plant by skilled union labor.
7. The demands of union labor and farmer's union enacted into law.
8. A constitution written and administered by the people in their own interest.

Texas Testimony

Wharton, Texas, May 22, 1905.
"Please ship three gross Dr. Mendenhall's Chill and Fever Cure as per your quotations. We have been selling your Chill Cure for six years and think it the Best Chill Tonic on the market."—L. B. Outler & Co. druggists. For sale by G. M. Ramsey.

The kidneys are small but important organs. They need help occasionally. Prickley Ash Bitters is a successful kidney tonic and system regulator. w

A bottle of Prickley Ash Bitters kept in the house and used occasionally means good health to the household. w

SHOULD THE REPUBLICANS WIN.

1. There is not a republican state in the union that has separate schools, coaches and waiting rooms for the negro race.
2. A constitution written under the guidance of Henry Asp, professional lobbyist, general solicitor for the Santa Fe system in Oklahoma in the interest of the railroads, trusts and illegal combines.
3. Railroad commissioners and a Supreme Court elected by districts in order to defeat the will of the majority of the voters of the state.
4. A continuation of the present high prices of coal at $5 to $9 per ton on the same coal sold in adjoining states at one-half the price paid in Oklahoma.
5. The present high prices on all building material shipped into the new state.
6. A tightening of the grasp of the Book Trust on the people of the new state, and all state printing done by the non-union, "rat" and "scab" shop—the Guthrie State Capital.
7. The defeat, as in the past, of Fellow Servant law, Union Label, Eight hour law and Direct Legislation.
8. A continuance of the Carpet-bag regime under guidance of its patron saint Hon. Ethan Allen Hitchcock.

LINGERING COLD

Withsdto oy Other Treatment But Quickl Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

"Last winter I caught a very severe cold which lingered for weeks," says J. Urquhart, of Zephyr, Ontario. "My cough was very dry and harsh. ## To the Voters of District No. 87:

Notice is hereby given that in Constitutional delegate District No. 87, the Republican, Democratic and Socialist parties have nominated the below named persons respectively as candidates for the office for delegate to form a constitutional convention for the proposed state of Oklahoma, and that the names of said candidates will appear upon the official ballots under the title and device and in the order, as follows:

In order to vote any one of the foregoing tickets the voter should enter the election room and announce his name to the two clerks of election, one of whom will deliver to him one ballot, and the other will hand him a stamp. The voter shall then without leaving the room, enter an unoccupied booth and indicate the candidate for whom he desires to vote by stamping a cross in the circle above, or in the square immediately to the left of such candidate's name, after which and before leaving the booth, he shall fold his ballot so that no part of the printed matter thereon will be exposed, and shall return the stamp to the clerk from whom he received it and deliver the ballot to the chairman, who shall forthwith, in the presence of the voter, judges of election and watchers deposit the same in the ballot box. Any other mark than the cross-mark for the purpose of voting, or any erasure made on the ballot, makes it void and it can not be counted.

Here Are Some Snaps

FOR SALE—I want to sell at once some good dwelling houses situated close in at a price which I estimate is only one half their real worth and for an amount less than they cost four years ago. When Ada property was cheap I purchased them at a bargain. Buy now and double your money by spring. I also desire to sell, and at once for about one half of estimated real worth, to one able to hold them, a one fourth interest in about 80 lots in Sunrise addition; also four lots, the very prettiest in town, just in front of Tom Hope's residence.

I offer my brick building on Broadway and 12th street for which a fair and permanent rental is guaranteed for cost. I consider that this property was bought at a very low price.

Will Visit Territory This Month. Want Facts Condensed.

Muskogee, Nov. 3.—Judge J. Clark Tisdell, of this city, has received a letter from Senator Clark, who is a member of the senatorial committee which will investigate conditions in the Indian Territory this month.

Senator Clark says that a conference between members of the committee will probably be held at the Baltimore hotel in Kansas City on the evening of November 12. The itinerary is yet tentative, although it is expected the first meeting will be held at Vinita on the 13th.

"We very much desire that those who have testimony touching upon either oil, gas or the land question, should present such testimony," said the senator in his letter. He also suggested that facts be condensed as much as possible.

Wheat in Western Canada

A Good Crop of Excellent Quality Has Been Raised This Year.

The grain crops estimates from the Canadian West make a range of from $7,000,000 to 115,000,000 bushels, and an accurate statement will be somewhere between these figures—probably not far from 90,000,000 bushels. This year a larger acreage was sown, estimated at an increase of from 18 to 20 per cent., and had the average yield of last year been maintained, the aggregate would assuredly have gone considerably beyond the 100,000,000 bushel mark. The exceptionally large influx of settlers was responsible to a considerable extent for much of the increased area, and there can be no doubt, it is also responsible for a part of the decreased average yield. The first crop raised by the new settler—often unacquainted with the conditions of western agriculture—is not usually prolific, and 1905-06 placed a very large number of amateur farmers behind the stilt of the plow; but they will learn, and learn fast, and with another season or two will help to raise the average instead of depressing it.

Of the estimates to hand, that of the Northwest Grain Dealers' association is the lowest: Wheat, $7,203,000 bushels; oats, 75,725,600 bushels, and barley, 16,980,600 bushels. The Winnipeg Free Press sent out five special correspondents, who returned after 20 days with a somewhat better report and gave reasons for the faith that was in them. They had traveled all through the spring wheat district; had driven 1,400 miles through the grain country, besides traveling thousands of miles by rail; and they had visited 93 localities and knew whereof they spoke. They reported: Wheat, 90,250,000 bushels, on 4,750,000 acres, with an average yield of 19 bushels per acre. The western division of the Bank of Commerce also investigated with the following result:

Alberta.
	Acres.	per acre.	Bushels.
Wheat	141,421	20	2,828,420
Barley	75,678	30	2,270,340
Oats	342,923	40	13,716,920
	540,022		18,015,680
Saskatchewan.
Wheat	1,331,549	22	29,294,278
Barley	41,273	30	1,238,190
Oats	542,483	40	21,699,320
	1,915,305		52,233,788
Manitoba.
Wheat	3,141,537	19	59,689,203
Barley	474,242	30	14,227,260
Oats	1,155,961	40	46,238,440
	4,771,740		120,154,903
Total.
Wheat			91,812,909
Barley			30,854,680
Oats			17,735,790

All of which goes to show that a wheat crop of nearly if not fully 90,000,000 bushels may be safely counted upon. This is less than was looked for by some enthusiastic western people, who maintained that increased acreage necessarily meant an increased aggregate. Still, 90,000,000 bushels of wheat is 6,000,000 better than what was looked upon last year as a good crop, and we do not think Western Canada has much cause to feel down in the mouth because the acme of its anticipations on the wheat crop may not have been realized. Taking one year with another, that country has demonstrated that it can be depended upon as a great wheat growing territory, and has to be reckoned with in the markets of the world.

A Still Better Outfit Seven Miles West of Morden.

The yield in oats has been increased this year by nearly 1,500,000 bushels, the aggregate estimate being 75,725,600, with the average at 41.2 bushels to the acre. The estimated crop of barley is placed at 16,980,600 bushels, which is a slight increase over the total of last year. Of flax the estimate given is 690,184 bushels, which is a material increase upon last year's figures.

Following are the figures in detail for wheat, oats, and barley in Western Canada for the three years last past:

1903.
	Wheat.	Oats.	Barley.

This year, the lowest returns, as we have stated, are estimated at: Wheat, 87,203,000 bushels; oats, 75,725,600, and barley at 16,980,600 bushels, which is very satisfactory, if not absolutely satisfying. To better appreciate this fact, all that is necessary to do is to go back 25 years in the history of Western Canada. At that time the agricultural product of the whole country was confined to Manitoba, and consisted of 1,000,000 bushels of wheat, on an acreage of 51,300 and 1,270,268 bushels of oats. The entire crop was at that time required for local purposes, and the export trade was an unknown quantity. To-day, allowing nearly 20,000,000 bushels of wheat for local consumption and seedling, there will be about 70,000,000 bushels for export, which at 70 cents per bushel will bring in outside money to the extent of nearly $50,000,000. The barley and oats exported are good for an additional $25,000,000, and

LAYING OF RAILS IS BEGUN.

New Pacific Coast Extension Is Taking Shape.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road has begun the laying of steel on its new Pacific coast extension. The rails are to be laid from Glenham, a point on the Aberdeen and Everts division, in South Dakota, to Flora, on the Missouri river, 12 miles above Everts, from where the coast line will proceed. The grading on this stretch is already completed, and the construction work will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

So far the St. Paul people have experienced little difficulty in securing enough laborers to carry on the work as planned, and the management is congratulating itself upon this fact. A high official of the company expressed the belief that the publicity given to the building of the extension is in a large measure responsible for this happy state of affairs.

"We have had little difficulty in securing workmen to carry out our plans," said a high official of the St. Paul road. "I attribute this to the fact that much publicity has been given to our plans, and those who want work know that we have it to offer. We have not given orders to hire any particular number of men. Our instructions are to employ all that can be secured."

While the actual laying of steel on the eastern end of the extension has begun, and the plans for the line west of the Bitter Root mountains are already completed, nothing is known of the route across Montana farther west than Butte. Officials declare that the Montana route between Butte and the crossing of the Bitter Root mountains is not yet decided.

LONELY JOB ON THE FREIGHT.

Where the Brakeman Has a Dreary Time at His Duty.

The woman who was given to drives and auto trips into the country was making a confession, as she looked eagerly at an oncoming freight train.

"There's one thing I never neglect to do," she said, "when I'm out on the country roads, and that is to wave my handkerchief to every freight brakeman I see."

"I suppose it's foolish of me, but it seems as if those poor fellows had awfully lonesome work, and as if their bravery were not half appreciated. There they stand or sit on top of those old cars for hours at a time, with never a soul to talk to, with no one to notice if they should fall off, even. I have a lot of admiration for them. Every once in awhile they get killed and nobody gives the tragedy a second thought."

"On a passenger train a brakeman can hobnob with the men in the smoker, indulge in conversation with helpless old ladies and little children, and get into touch with his kind; but there, on those freight trains, a brakeman must have a dreary time of it. They're always ready to wave back to me, and they always act as if they appreciated my salute. Sometimes they yell a few words of greeting, as if they were glad to pass the time of day with some one."

New Southwestern Line.

Nearly 80 miles of grading has been done on the St. Louis, Rocky Mountain & Pacific company. For more than half of this distance track has been laid, the greater part of which has been surfaced. The bridge over the Red river is completed, and other bridge construction has been started. During the latter part of September shipments of coal will begin from the Koehler mine along the new Crow Creek branch, which will be finished by that time.

There are to be 200 coke ovens built at this point. At Gardiner there is now in operation a total of 186 coke ovens, producing at the rate of 100,000 tons per annum. The present total daily output of coal from the various mines is 2,500 tons. This will be increased by 1,000 tons daily when the Koehler mine is opened.

Value of American Railroads.

The 220,000 miles of main track of the railways of the United States represent property to the extent of $16,000,000,000, or as much as the total value of all the property in the country in 1860, the year of Lincoln's election. Their income of over $2,000,000,000 a year is very nearly four times the annual revenue of the United States government. The number of men on their rolls is 1,500,000, an army as great as the combined forces that Oyama and Linvitch had in Manchuria at the time of the peace of Portsmouth. The railroads are a vast interest. Anything which would hamper them in their legitimate activities would deal a hard blow to every important industry in the country.—Leslie's Weekly.

Novel Invention Is Out.

A. M. Cleland, general passenger agent of the Northern Pacific, has perfected a novelty for the use of women travelers on sleeping cars which is pleasing the passengers. It is a tough paper bag, with "puckering strings," for holding hats, gloves, veils and other light articles of wear which are not in use on the car. The bag can be hung on one of the coat hooks and be entirely out of the way.

New Extension Is Completed.

The Burlington-Great Northern extension to Ashland, Wis., has been completed, and a mixed service is now being maintained. Full operations will not be started for at least a month. This extension opens the Burlington's connection with Lake Superior, and opens a new route for Nebraska grain to the Atlantic seaboard.

FADED TO A SHADOW.

Worn Down by Five Years of Suffering from Kidney Complaint.

Mrs. Remethe Myers, of 180 South Tenth St., Ironton, O., says: "I have worked hard in my time and have been exposed again and again to changes of weather. It is no wonder my kidneys gave out and I went all to pieces at last. For five years I was fading away and finally so weak that for six months I could not get out of the house. I was nervous, restless and sleepless at night, and lame and sore in the morning. Sometimes everything would whirl and blur before me. I bloated so badly I could not wear tight clothing, and had to put on shoes two sizes larger than usual. The urine was disordered and passages were dreadfully frequent. I got help from the first box of Doan's Kidney Pills, however, and by the time I had taken four boxes the pain and bloating was gone. I have been in good health ever since."

Impossible Advice.

"In pulling down an old room at Bocking, England, workmen came upon a wine flagon imbedded in the brickwork. A page of foolscap dated Aug. 15, 1783, found inside the flagon gave details of the building of the chimney of Josiah Reeve, the owner, with the names of "ye master carpenter" and "ye master bricklayer." It concluded: "Josiah Reeve, father of six children, leaves this memorandum in this place. His wife was Elizabeth Houston, of Great St. Helens, London, to whom he was married March 18, 1773. Reader, go thou and do likewise."

How Rhodes and Beit Met.

Mr. Rhodes once told a circle of friends after dinner the story of his first meeting with Beit. "I called at Forges' late one evening," he said, "and there was Beit working away as usual. 'Do you never take a rest?' I asked. 'Not often,' he replied. 'Well, what's your game?' said I. 'I am going to control the whole diamond output before I am much older,' he answered, as he got off his stool. 'That's funny,' I said. 'I have made up my mind to do the same; we had better join hands.' Join hands they did. Unlike Alfred Beit, Cecil Rhodes had small patience with arithmetical details. Once this characteristic involved him in a difficulty. Pitching a balance sheet into the pile of papers before Beit, he exclaimed desperately. Here, you understand things; for heaven's sake tell me how I stand."

WELL PEOPLE TOO

Wise Doctor Gives Postum to Convalescents.

A wise doctor tries to give nature its best chance by saving the little strength of the already exhausted patient, and building up wasted energy with simple but powerful nourishment.

"Five years ago," writes a doctor, "I commenced to use Postum in my own family instead of coffee. I was so well pleased with the results that I had two grocers place it in stock, guaranteeing its sale."

"I then commenced to recommend it to my patients in place of coffee, as a nutritious beverage. The consequence is, every store in town is now selling it, as it has become a household necessity in many homes."

"I'm sure I prescribe Postum as often as any one remedy in the Materia Medica—in almost every case of indigestion and nervousness I treat, and with the best results."

"When I once introduce it into a family, it is quite sure to remain. I shall continue to use it and prescribe it in families where I practice."

"In convalescence from pneumonia, typhoid fever and other cases, I give it as a liquid, easily absorbed diet. You may use my letter as a reference any way you see fit." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Baptists Do Not Cuss.

Senator Clay, of Georgia, was telling Senator Pettus, of Alabama, about an unfair, browbeating and insolent federal judge in the south. "He is —, he is —, he is," said Senator Clay, hesitating for a word. "I understand you perfectly, senator," Senator Pettus said. "You are a Baptist and your religion does not furnish the words necessary properly to describe such a man."

WOMEN'S NEGLECT

SUFFERING THE SURE PENALTY

Health Thus Lost Is Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women do you know who are perfectly well and strong? We hear every day the same story over and over again. "I do not feel well; I am so tired all the time!"

More than likely you speak the same words yourself, and no doubt you feel far from well. The cause may be easily traced to some derangement of the female organs which manifests itself in depression of spirits, reluctance to go anywhere or do anything, backache, bearing-down pains, flatulency, nervousness, sleeplessness, or other female weakness.

These symptoms are but warnings that there is danger ahead, and unless heeded a life of suffering or a serious operation is the inevitable result.

The never failing remedy for all these symptoms is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Miss Kate McDonald of Woodbridge, N. J., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"Restored health has meant so much to me that I cannot help from telling about it for the sake of other suffering women."

"For a long time I suffered untold agony with a female trouble and irregularities, which made me a physical wreck, and no one thought I would recover, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has entirely cured me, and made me well and strong, and I feel it my duty to tell other suffering women what a splendid medicine it is."

For twenty-five years Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, has under her direction, and since her decease, been advising sick women free of charge. Her advice is free and always helpful. Address, Lynn, Mass.

A NERVOUS WRECK

Mrs. Green Gained 26 Pounds and Recovered Her Health by Taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

General debility is a term that covers a multitude of cases where there is no acute disease, yet the patient continues to lose strength and the doctor's medicines have no apparent effect. This is the decline that leads to death if means are not found to check it. In a great majority of cases Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will check it and restore health and strength because they actually make new blood and so send renewed vitality to every organ and tissue of the body.

Mrs. S. A. Green, whose address is Box 29, R. F. D. No. 4, Franklin, Ga., says: "For three and a half years I suffered with weakness and nervousness, complicated with stomach trouble. At times I was confined to my bed for periods ranging from three weeks to two months and was under the physician's care most of the time for three years. I do not know the cause of my trouble but I was prostrated with weakness and, although I took a great deal of medicine, nothing seemed to give me strength. At times my stomach hurt me something fearful and my head often troubled me. I was sleepless and what sleep I did get did not refresh me."

"When I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I weighed but 104 pounds. I knew I was so bad that a few doses would not cure me and I had patience. Soon the pills began to give me strength, my blood got in better condition, I could sleep well at night and help some with the housework. Now I weigh 130 pounds and think nothing of walking half a mile. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done wonders for me and the neighbors all know this statement is true."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N.Y.

Hinky Dink and Barrie.

H. G. Wells of England, the forecast-novel man and sociologist, met an interesting person in Chicago and in a magazine article tells all about the experience. "I made," he says, "the acquaintance of Alderman Kenna, who is better known as 'Hinky Dink,' saw his two saloons and something of the Chinese quarters about him. He is a compact, upright little man, with iron-gray hair, a clear blue eye and a dry manner. He wore a bowler hat through all our experiences in common and kept his hands in his jacket pockets. He filled me with a ridiculous idea, for which I apologize, that had it fallen to the lot of J. M. Barrie to miss a university education and keep a saloon in Chicago and organize voters, he would have looked own brother to Mr. Kenna."

AWFUL PSORIASIS 35 YEARS.

Terrible Scaly Humor in Patches All Over the Body—Skin Cracked and Bleeding—Cured by Cuticura.

"I was afflicted with psoriasis for thirty-five years. It was in patches all over my body. I used three cakes of Cuticura Soap, six boxes of Ointment and two bottles of Resolvent. In thirty days I was completely cured, and I think permanently, as it was about five years ago. The psoriasis first made its appearance in red spots, generally forming a circle, leaving in the center a spot about the size of a silver dollar of sound flesh. In a short time the affected circle would form a heavy dry scale of a white silvery appearance and would gradually drop off. To remove the entire scales by bathing or using oil to soften them the flesh would be perfectly raw, and a light discharge of bloody substance would ooze out. That scaly crust would form again in twenty-four hours. It was worse on my arms and limbs, although it was in spots all over my body, also on my scalp. If I let the scales remain too long without removing by bath or otherwise, the skin would crack and bleed. I suffered intense itching, worse at nights after getting warm in bed, or blood warm by exercise, when it would be almost unbearable. W. M. Chidester, Hutchinson, Kan., April 20, 1905."

Scandal Spoiled.

"Didn't you hear about it?" said Kilder. "Deacon Goodley came home barreled the other evening." "Aha!" exclaimed the gossip, delightedly. "I always thought there was some hypocrisy in that old fellow's temperance talk—" "Oh! no, he simply was swimming in the creek, and some tramp stole his clothes."

LEADS WORLD IN FIANAGE.

France Succeeds England as a Result of South African War.

A writer in the Review of Reviews says that France is now playing the role of the world's banker. England lost her claim to the title when she went to war in South Africa. A generation ago one had to go to London to feel the pulse of the international money market. Today one makes a better diagnosis in Paris.

The strides toward financial supremacy which France is making have been most rapid in the last five years. In that time French investors have taken up many milliard francs of foreign obligations. They furnished Great Britain with much of the capital that went to finance the boer war; they loaned enormous amounts to Russia, practically supplying the money needed in the struggle against Japan; they provided Germany with 1,000,000,000 marks in 1904-5 to carry on her tremendous industrial enterprises; they took a liberal amount of the last Japanese loan, more than half of the Russian loan of last April and finally they supplied borrowers in the United States with fully $150,000,000 during the tight money period of last winter and are now financing the bond and note issues of some of our greatest corporations.

There is a great reservoir of free capital in France which is being tapped by the other thirsty nations and which in spite of the drain on it keeps well filled and shows no sign of exhaustion. The Bank of France, the largest hoarder of gold next to the United States treasury, has in its vaults today nearly $600,000,000 of the precious metal; two years ago it had $450,000,000 and in 1900, when Paris began slowly to forge ahead of London as the center of largest money supply, the institution held only $375,000,000.

How has France, a nation industrially inferior to Germany and with a commerce much below that of Great Britain, gained such a power in world finance? The answer is, through her domestic economy. For frugality, thrift, intense application to the work in hand and the commendable ambition to carve from life's labors enough to make bright the inevitable rainy day and to cheer old age the Frenchman has no peer. To save is an inherited desire.

The poorest peasant in the least productive parish of the republic manages to put aside a little each year for a competency and the fishermen down on the Brittany coast would have starved a few winters ago, when the catch was almost nothing, had they not been able to draw from the savings of more fruitful years. Tens of thousands of small shopkeepers, innkeepers, scantily paid government employees are investors, and their combined savings have provided the funds to finance many a nation and carry it through a lean period.

The population of France is about 40,000,000 people, the wealth of France is nearly $45,000,000,000. This wealth is evenly distributed. The number of estates administered in 1904 was 294,787 and of these one-half were for values ranging from less than 10,000 to a little under $100,000. Only three were over $100,000.

DAY OF LARGE FEES.

Eminent Lawyers and Surgeons Receive Magnificent Sums.

This is an age of great fees in law, in surgery, in science and even in diplomacy. These fees are not always paid by corporations or Indian tribes, says the Baltimore Sun. A few years ago (it was widely published at the time) a gentleman who was among the leaders of the New York bar received a fee of $100,000 for a legal opinion which he was able to give almost offhand. A question involving the status of a great enterprise was submitted to him in the form of a memorandum. He wrote his opinion in one word and it was sustained in the courts. This seems to be an absurdly large sum to pay for one word of legal advice. In another aspect, however, it was not excessive, for it enabled this company to establish itself in an impregnable position in the legal point of view and to continue its operations with the assurance that it could not be attacked successfully. At the close of the war between China and Japan eleven years ago the Chinese government needed the services of an able and experienced diplomatist to cope with the capable and up-to-date Japanese diplomats. It therefore engaged Mr. John W. Foster, a former secretary of state of the United States, to assist in the preparation of the treaty of peace. It is understood that the fee which Mr. Foster received from China was $150,000, a large sum, to be sure, but not out of proportion to the services he rendered. China was at the mercy of Japan, which was able to enforce its demands, both as regards territory and indemnity. By persuading the Japanese to modify their demands Mr. Foster was in a position to save China territory and treasure. It was a business matter throughout, and the Chinese government seems to have been thoroughly satisfied with the work of its American agent.

Presence of Mind.

"O, Charley, dear," exclaimed young Mrs. Spendit, as they sat together at the table, "where is the locket I gave you before we were married?"

And Charley with a guilty consciousness of the pawn ticket in his vest pocket answered glibly: "Well, dear, it is just as well to keep on the right side of these rich relatives, so I left it as a pledge of affection with my uncle just now."—Baltimore American.

WHAT JOY THEY BRING TO EVERY HOME

as with joyous hearts and smiling faces they romp and play—when in health—and how conducive to health the games in which they indulge, the outdoor life they enjoy, the cleanly, regular habits they should be taught to form and the wholesome diet of which they should partake. How tenderly their health should be preserved, not by constant medication, but by careful avoidance of every medicine of an injurious or objectionable nature, and if at any time a remedial agent is required, to assist nature, only those of known excellence should be used; remedies which are pure and wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, like the pleasant laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. Syrup of Figs has come into general favor in many millions of well informed families, whose estimate of its quality and excellence is based upon personal knowledge and use.

Syrup of Figs has also met with the approval of physicians generally, because they know it is wholesome, simple and gentle in its action. We inform all reputable physicians as to the medicinal principles of Syrup of Figs, obtained, by an original method, from certain plants known to them to act most beneficially and presented in an agreeable syrup in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to promote the pleasant taste; therefore it is not a secret remedy and hence we are free to refer to all well informed physicians, who do not approve of patent medicines and never favor indiscriminate self-medication.

Please to remember and teach your children also that the genuine Syrup of Figs always has the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package and that it is for sale in bottles of one size only. If any dealer offers any other than the regular Fifty cent size, or having printed thereon the name of any other company, do not accept it. If you fail to get the genuine you will not get its beneficial effects. Every family should always have a bottle on hand, as it is equally beneficial for the parents and the children, whenever a laxative remedy is required.

What the Party Stands For.

Below is published in full the resolutions adopted by the democratic delegate district convention at Ada October 5th:

We the democrats of the 87th constitutional delegate district in the Indian Territory in convention assembled for the purpose of nominating a delegate for the constitutional convention for the new state of Oklahoma, wish:

1. To express our firm and lasting faith in the honesty, intelligence and wisdom of the people and our firm belief that they should have a right to decide all matters and elect all officers by a direct vote of the people to the end that they may get relief from the burdens and abuses which have been heaped upon them in the past when they were denied the right of free government to free men. We advocate, therefore, the initiative and referendum and the right to recall, so that the people may settle all questions of a public or a local nature as they may deem best and so that an official when elected to represent the people may be recalled from office at any time by a majority of the people, should he fail to represent the will of the people or prove untrue to the trust imposed in him.

2. We demand an ironclad anti-trust provision, also a corporation commission elected by the people, such commission to be empowered to exercise all necessary supervision of corporations including railroads, to see that the letter and the spirit of the constitution do not occur without just punishment; to compel by the aid of courts strict obedience to the laws enacted for the protection of patrons, employees and honest competition.

3. Our constitution should forbid any railroads or other corporations to do more than require an easement of any lands and then only on such lands as are necessary to furnish right-of-way, station grounds or for shops or for some other necessary department of the corporation, and should a corporation abandon its legitimate business or have its charter forfeited then the use and occupancy of such land shall revert to the original grantor, his heirs or assigns.

4. We favor a provision of the constitution providing for factory and mine inspectors, said inspectors to be men who know from actual experience or training who to ascertain and correct abuses so prevalent in factory and mine.

5. We are opposed to the youth of our land being prematurely employed in the mines and factories. There should be a constitutional act protecting the boys and girls of the state in that respect.

6. We believe that labor should be respected in its demand that eight hours shall constitute a day's work in all underground works and other works carried on by the state, county or municipal government.

7. We favor establishing and maintaining for as long a period each year a free school system: the state should manufacture and furnish free, or at cost, uniform school books, by this means curbing the school book trust.

8. We favor a bonded school fund commission elected by the people, so that the state school fund is not in any way misappropriated. We favor the retention of all the public lands now owned by the state, unless they are sold by a vote of the people.

9. We are opposed to the coal lands of the state falling into the hands of private monopolies and favor a system by which the coal lands may be acquired by the state for the benefit of the public school fund, and the general public who are consumers of coal, to the end that the Indians may receive just and fair compensation for their property and the public protected from extortion and injustice. Should the state own the coal lands we advocate dealing separately with the surface, that more homes may be given the bona fide settlers of the state.

10. We demand that no public officer or candidate for any office within the state or from any portion of it shall use passes, or free transportation upon any railroad or other public service corporation and that it shall be declared a felony to accept same.

11. We believe the constitutional convention should memorialize congress to remove all the restrictions from the lands of the tribal citizens, except the homestead of fullbloods. That a just and reasonable limitation be placed upon the amount of said land to be purchased by a person, to the end that this land may become the home of the actual farmer and settler. We are opposed to this land falling into the hands of the corporation speculator and grafter.

12. We favor having incorporated into our state structure an alien land law.

13. We favor a state wide road system, to be maintained by a general road tax and we favor the working of the convicts on the public roads and the transfer of all able-bodied convicts from northern prisons to be employed on public roads where most needed.

14. We advocate a provision levying a one per centum tax on earnings of all corporations with intangible assets. We also advocate taxing all intangible assets of corporations.

15. We favor uniform and maximum tax rate.

16. We declare unalterable opposition to all trusts, combinations and monopolies which seek to control the necessities of life and thereby extort from the people an unjust and unfair price and we denounce all persons or parties, who favor such, as being enemies to the people and to the best interests of the country, and brand any attempt which would encourage any monopoly as treachery to the people and country and as taking the taxing power from the government and placing it in the power of private parties or corporations to tax the people at their own will or selfish interests may dictate, and demand that the people be properly safeguarded in the constitution.

17. We favor proper and effective laws which will prevent bribery and corruption and convict those who shall either give or take bribes.

18. We favor the election of all officers by direct vote of the people and favor an amendment to the constitution of the United States providing for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people, and until the constitution is so amended we demand the nomination of the United States senators by direct vote of the people and that the state legislatures be required to elect senators so nominated.

19. We demand that it be made an offense punishable by imprisonment for a corporation to contribute to a campaign fund, also a provision demanding publicity of campaign contributions.

20. We favor a clause in the constitution which will give the people the right to amend the constitution at any time by direct vote.

21. We favor that the rate of interest in the new state may be made: legal rate at 8 per cent and contract rate 10 per cent, and that a reasonable homestead and exemption law be passed.

22. We favor a proper and effective limitation on creation of public indebtedness unless submitted to a vote of the people.

23. We demand separate schools, separate coaches and separate waiting rooms for the negroes, but demand that no discrimination be made in the quality of accommodations and that ample provisions be made for all.

24. We demand a constitution formed in accordance with the Jeffersonian idea, with equal rights to all and special privileges to none and with such safeguards of legislation as shall insure protection to the rights of the people.

25. We favor the nomination of all officers by primaries.

26. In order to settle the prohibition question at once and thus divorce it from the politics of the state, we favor the submission to the people of a separate article which shall become a part of the constitution, if ratified by a majority of the people voting therefor.

27. We favor a just and reasonable fellow servants law which shall fully protect all employees in whatsoever capacity engaged.

28. We are opposed to government by injunctions whereby the rights of the people are restricted and transferred arbitrarily under the hands of unfriendly judges.

29. We favor a state agricultural department, agricultural schools and experimental stations.

OVERDRAFTS

It is becoming well known by business men that overdrafts, whether large or small, are not approved by the comptroller of the currency. The large central banks allow overdrafts only in a very small way, and this, it matters not how small, is not approved by the powers that be. This unbusinesslike habit of overdrafts grew out of advancing on moving products, such as cotton, grain and fat stock on the move. The overdraft system is wrong and the man whose account is always overdrawn is the man who spends more money than he makes and will finally have no bank account.
